DAY AT RICHMONDALE

Colliery at That Place Inspected by a Party on Mr. Richmond's Invitation.

THE PLANT IS VERY COMPLETE

About the Colliery, Which Was Erected in What Two Years Ago Was a Wilderness, Has Sprung Up a Town Named in Honor of the Owner—Description of the Breaker and Its Appointments.

A party composed of persons residing in Scranton, Dickson City and Carbondale yesterday, by invitation of William H. Richmond, visited Richmondsdale, a new mining town at the northern extremity of the county and inspected the colliery that at Richmondsdale recently put in operation at that place.

Those who comprised the party were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Richmond, Miss Clara Richmond, Thomas Grier and daughter, Miss Clara Grier, Dickson City; Mrs. G. L. Morris, Miss Sandra Morris of Rose Morris, Daniel Scully and C. S. Spencer, Carbondale; Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Morris, Miss Finch, Miss Florence Finch, Miss Vicky Broadbent, Colonel H. M. Boies, ex Justice Alfred Hand, Dr. B. H. Throop, I. A. Finch, W. Irving Finch, Dr. Alfred Hand, W. R. Sturte, H. A. Kingsbury, James H. Arthur, Storer, Frank E. Platt and James Archibald, of this city. They left the city in a special car attached to the 10:55 a. m. New York, Ontario and Western railroad passenger train, Superintendent Williams, of the Scranton division of the road, being in charge of the party.

Richmondsdale is reached by a branch road three miles long, which is an off-shoot of the northwest branch of the New York, Ontario and Western railroad. The latter branch strikes out from the main line at Simpsonville, a few miles above Carbondale. The grade to Richmondsdale is heavy, and when the new town is reached the visitor finds himself over 1,500 feet above the sea level.

A MAGNIFICENT PANORAMA. The little town occupies a plateau near the summit of the mountain and commands a view of a magnificent sweep of country to the south and east, in which the varying hues of farm, mountain and dell.

Two years ago the place was a wilderness, but Mr. Richmond's energy and purse have worked wonders. The town is about two miles southwest of Forest City, five miles east of Carbondale and two and one-half miles south of Crystal Lake.

The one thousand acres which Mr. Richmond has under lease is the property of the Morris estate and was purchased forty years ago by G. L. Morris simply for its value as timber land. At that time it was supposed that the coal belt ended some distance this side of Crystal Lake.

Of recent years there was an impression that there was coal under the land and two years and a half ago Mr. Richmond put down a bore hole and at a distance of 200 feet from the surface found a vein of coal 7 feet in thickness. Twenty feet further down an 8-foot vein was met, and below that are three other workable veins.

Two years ago the task of constructing a colliery in the midst of the forest was begun. A saw mill was first hauled to the spot with ox teams and when it was put in readiness for operation trees were felled and the lumber for the construction of the breaker, houses and shops sawed. In the meantime the railroad was constructed and the machinery for the breaker carried up the mountain on it. The breaker was completed a few months ago and put in operation.

THE COLLIERY INSPECTED. When the inspecting party alighted at Richmondsdale yesterday they found a town of fifty neat and comfortable houses, a large store, a saw mill, the breaker and the shops connected therewith. After viewing the town and inhaling the exhilarating breeze that sweep across the plateau from Elk Hill to Farview the party adjourned to the second story of the store building where a tasteful lunch was served.

The colliery was then inspected. It is one of the most complete in the anthracite region, every known appliance for skillfully handling and preparing coal for market being employed.

There is one feature of the colliery that has no duplicate in the coal region. It is Mr. Richmond's own idea. The mine law requires that a breaker shall be erected at least 200 feet from the colliery and consequently nearly every colliery two shafts have to be kept in operation, one for lifting the coal, the other for the use of the men.

Mr. Richmond over his shaft has a steel tower 187 feet in height erected. At a height of 130 feet in this tower as they come from the shaft are dumped automatically without leaving the cage, which saves much time and labor. The coal drops into a chute which carries it a distance of 217 feet to the breaker where it passes through crushers and is afterward separated into the various sizes by revolving and shaking screens. All of the machinery used in the most approved type and was constructed by the Finch Manufacturing company, which has fitted a majority of the breakers throughout the Lackawanna region which are owned by individual operators.

OUTPUT OF THE COLLIERY. The colliery, if necessary, can place 1,500 tons of prepared coal on the market a day, but at present it is producing 15,000 tons a month. There is estimated to be 1,500,000 tons of coal under the tract Mr. Richmond has under lease. All sizes of coal from birdseye up are produced, the finer grades supplying the boilers at the colliery.

There is a mine at present in operation from the breaker which furnishes the second opening required by law. A select school is now being held at Richmondsdale, and Fall township has made arrangements for the erection of a public school there. The Methodists of Forest City and the Presbyterians of Carbondale have established missions. The colliery is in charge of Richard Beer, inside foreman; William Anderson, outside foreman, and W. W. Shipman, breaker foreman.

At 5:30 the party started on the homeward trip from Richmondsdale. On the train a meeting was held, of which Colonel H. M. Boies was president and J. F. Mitchell secretary. W. R. Storer was the first speaker. He said he desired to thank Mr. Richmond most heartily for the pleasant and profitable day the members of the party had enjoyed. He was followed by ex-Justice Alfred Hand, who said:

"I wish to express my gratification at this pleasant outing. It was very kind of Mr. Richmond to invite us up here, first to show us what nature had done and then to demonstrate the visitor that art had achieved over nature."

TO ALTER POOR FARM BUILDINGS

Bids for Remodeling the Hillside Home Buildings Are Referred to Committee—Buildings Will Go Uninsured Because Underwriters Object to Electric Wires—Two Children Indentured to Henry Compton and Clark of Courts Thomas.

A regular meeting of the Scranton poor board was held yesterday afternoon in the municipal building. Secretary Lynett read a number of bills, which were approved and ordered paid.

The usual number of applications for relief were heard and in all cases the requests were granted.

Bids as follows for the remodeling of the building at the Hillside home, now known as the men's building, but which was formerly the women's building, were read: For carpenter work, J. W. Woolley & Co., $3,772; John Benore & Son, $5,900; John Colligan, $5,350; For plumbing and gas fitting, Hunt & Connel, $1,807.67; H. N. Gardner, $1,690; W. P. Connell & Son, $1,784. For steam fitting, Hunt & Connel, $633; H. N. Gardner, $1,265; W. P. Connell & Son, $735. The bids were referred to the house committee to report at a special meeting to be held at the Hillside home next Friday afternoon.

BUILDINGS TO BE UNINSURED. Mr. Gribbons brought up the question of complaint made by the Underwriters' association regarding the defect in electrical wires in two of the new buildings. He moved that the Barbers' union admit the insurance on these buildings. He said that they were supposed to be as nearly fire-proof as any structure could be, and believed that it was a waste of money to expend anything on them for insurance. The motion was adopted.

James Compton, an 11-year-old boy, whose father has deserted him, was indentured to his brother, Henry Compton. The interesting 7-year-old daughter of Mrs. Oberhauser, an inmate of the Hillside home, was indentured to Clerk of the Courts John H. Thomas about a year ago. Mr. Thomas wished to secure the child as an heir and the board recommended that he take the necessary legal steps in order to accomplish his wish.

MR. SCRAGG'S OPINION. An opinion was received from Solicitor John F. Scragg bearing on the power of the board in expending money toward burying paupers without sending them to the almshouse. At the meeting Mr. Gribbons introduced the matter and it was referred to Mr. Scragg. The opinion set forth that the law is not very specific; but under the act of June 6, 1893, Mr. Scragg believes there is ample latitude given to the directors to expend money toward burying paupers without sending them to the almshouse, if the body is not claimed by relatives, either blood or marriage.

The board did not take any action on the opinion; it was accepted and ordered placed on file.

A motion to adjourn was preceded by a motion fixing Friday, July 13, as the date of a special meeting of the board at the Hillside home.

ARGUING THE SUNDAY CASES.

Court Listened to What the Attorneys Had to Say, but Reserved Its Decision.

A BURGLAR ON THE HILL.

Entered the Residence of R. B. Williams, on Clay Avenue.

About 1 o'clock yesterday morning an attempt was made to burglarize the residence of R. B. Williams, at 539 Mr. Williams was out of town on Thursday, but was expected to return late that night or early yesterday morning. Thursday night when Mrs. Williams and her daughter retired they supposed they had locked all the doors and windows; but the front door, which has a spring lock, did not catch.

About 1 o'clock they were awakened by foot steps in the hall just outside their bed-room door, and thinking it was Mr. Williams returning, Mrs. Williams called to him. The intruder broke in the heavy door, and Mrs. Williams, when she received no response, became alarmed and went to the window to summon aid. She saw a man run across the street and down Clay avenue. She called to him to stop, but it only caused him to quicken his pace.
